Your denial states that our service provider –

“was improperly involved in the competitive bidding and vendor selection processes”, based on the fact that “the similarities in the Request for Proposals and selective review responses was only noted on applications that had Communication Data and Security as a vendor”.

As you review our Form 471 and selective review responses, please be aware that CDS is neutral throughout, with no part in our choice of vendor. The basic assistance that we requested was according to your rules, which allow for explanation of how to file these forms. There was nothing “improper” i.e. no influence on our decision, with the guidance that we received in filing our RFP and selective review responses. The fact that responses of other establishments were similar to ours, does not in any way “indicate” that the assistance received from our service provider affected our decision of whom to chose as our vendor.

Please reevaluate your decision.

Thank you,

Pesach Grossman
